Re: Drainage
Diamond Head Oil Refining Company

Dear Sirs:

We are Engineers for Diamond Head Oil Refining Company at 1401 Harrison Turnpike, Kearny, New Jersey 07032 and are now working on drainage problems for their site. We would like to explore with you practical solutions for providing drainage both during construction and for the conditions at time of the completed road project.

The completed project appears to interfere with the natural drainage pattern and the present condition during construction is further adversely affecting the site drainage situation.

I would at this time like to determine the following: (1) how the final construction will fit the topography and drainage pattern, (2) how interim stages will be drained and (3) the time frame for these stages.

I feel it would be useful if we met with you and possibly someone in your organization familiar with the overall drainage design.

I can be reached by phone at (212) MO 2-9619 or at the above address, if you want to reply to this by letter.

Yours truly,

Jack Kroop, P. E.
